The Way of Fools

Lose your Mind and Gain a Life

Spiritual self-help. 2004. 624 pages

Publishers: Germany - Random House

Lose your mind and gain a life. With his philosophy of laughter Grigorij Kurlov, a Russian Eckhart Tolle, provides a practical guide to everyday life. Using a few simple techniques it is possible to develop a laughing relationship to oneself and the world. The basis of the „fool’s philosophy“, as taught by Kurlov, is the awareness of the duality of life, in the sense of plus and minus, hot and cold, loud and noisy. Any attempt to achieve monism is futile. Therefore, we must change the emphasis of our existence: from conflict to enjoyment. Instead of fighting against things, we should try to accept the issue: to live and to laugh. Instead of only responding to the demands of our intellect, we should step back from our problems with a smile. That is the quintessence of happiness.this day. A story about the awakening of artistic talent under highly unusual Russian circumstances.

Kurlov is the Russian master of holistic therapy and „fool-ology“ and also the founder and director of the school of holistic consciousness, which is also known as the „Fools School“. On answering questions about himself the author says: age? - depends on the situation; education? - thanks to my own efforts, assiduously dis-educated; favourite occupation? - self-discovery; principal occupation? - fools wisdom; overwhelming feeling? - an unbelievably unending state of amazement.

The Shaman's Laugh

Shamanism. AST. Mocow 2009. 272 pages

Publishers: Germany - Random House

– City man meets Siberian shaman - the authentic experience report of a healing in the rough landscape of the tundra

– Captivating encounter of western rational thinking and indigenous wisdom

– Magic journey to a forgotten world

In the sparse, icy vastness of Siberia, a shamanic tradition has been preserved that fascinates and shakes Western people in its strangeness. On the search for a way out of a life crisis, the psychology professor Vladimir Serkin goes on an adventurous journey into the wilderness and finds an old shaman as an eccentric but intelligent teacher. He allows Serkin to experience shamanic healing up close and to record the conversations and experiences. What Serkin learns from his charismatic teacher is as unconventional as it is profound and shows that real insights into the shamanic view of life can only be gained with the courage to make radical changes. It turns out that the shaman is no way a recluse but people are not the only creatures with whom he interacts. He communicates with animals and plants, opens his senses to fragrances, to the ice, to the wind, to the trees and also to invisible beings. He engages in unusual practices which enable him to use powers not available to normal people. Serkin himself is also led to his physical and mental limits and experiences on his own body how the power of a lived shamanism melts the supercooled, rational facade of modern man.

The shaman combines the quintessential wisdom of the ancient peoples of the north with the intellect of a modern city dweller. He is no stranger to the town (Magadan) which he visits every now and again. During these visits he is hardly any different to a normal town resident. Yet even when communing with nature and the spirits he appears entirely rational and practical. Astounding practices, one of which is the shaman's laugh, and not a trace of mysticism are what the professor encounters.

This book is derived from Serkin's notes recording the impressions gained during his visits to the shaman, as well as from the notes of his discussions with the shaman which Serkin carried out from the end of the 1990s until 2016. Serkin's book avoids rash interpretations. He lets the reader take part in his unique encounters with someone who lives in another dimension, who has a different wisdom and genuine freedom and clarity of consciousness. These dialogues contain the key to a completely different view of the world.

"The Russian Castaneda." Ogonyok

Serkin was born in 1955 in Yakutsk, one of the coldest cities in Siberia. He studied psychology at the MGU (Moscow State University), which he successfully completed with a doctorate. Today he heads the Faculty of Psychology at the University of Magadan and has distinguished himself with highly respected scientific publications.

We take medication, even if we know that every artificially produced medicine is not fully valuable and causes harmful side effects, and is sometimes even poisonous. At the same time, we completely forget that the human body has the ability to heal itself. The author presents a comprehensive system that helps everyone to find an individual path out of the disease. He presents a holistic approach to health and takes into account the fact that man has not only body but also soul, that is emotions, psyche, intellect. The basis of this system of restoring health is to awaken the body's ability to regenerate and self-regulate, to regain internal harmony and spiritual balance, to rejuvenate the body and gain health. Thanks to this book you will learn about body healing methods such as exercises of will and imagination as well as gymnastics of joints and muscles, which strengthens and makes them more flexible. Self-help. Litur. St. Petersburg 2002. 240 pages

Publishers: France - Macro, Germany - Random House, Italy - Macro

Over 5 Million copies sold in Russian language
Over 250.000 copies sold in German language

Health is a precious commodity. Who is freer than a healthy person? He who is well has the world in his hand, is full of strength, projected into the future and ready to realize his most ambitious projects. But why then does humanity degenerate? Why is the increase in the costs of the health service seen as a positive fact, as one of the most important parameters in a socially just organization? Why have chronic diseases become our inseparable travel companions? The intention of Shatalova, as a doctor and as a person, is to return the human being to himself, to help him become as nature conceived and shaped him. For this reason she has created a natural healing method, concrete and theoretically founded, which summarizes in itself the centuries-old experience of humanity, which has brought healing and health to many people who had already been passed off by traditional medicine. There is nothing mystical about this method and the individual is not required to have supernatural qualities, nor long and complex preparations, but only common sense and willpower. Shatalova argues that the human being is designed to live at least 150 years, but current habits make it age already at 60 years. With this natural healing method, based on plant nutrition, breathing exercises, physical activity and new daily habits to harden the physique, we will be able to ensure longevity, physical and mental well-being and a lot of health.

Inspired by the Hippocratic statement that our food should be our remedies and our remedies our food, Shatalova has developed a concept of natural recovery. Her diet strictly opposes the calorie theory of balanced nutrition, which is contrary to human nature. According to her, the human organism is restricted exclusively to plant foods and does not need more than 250 to 400 calories of daily food intake to maintain its basic metabolism. Everything we eat too much burdens the body and must be „disposed of“ by it. In this book she explains the anatomical and physiological backgrounds of her concept and reports on her experiences during his practical trials. The reader gets interesting insights into her daily work and research routine and receives important information on medicinal herbs, cooking recipes and relaxation exercises in order to be able to practice their comprehensive health concept themselves.

To prove the success of her theories, in 1990 she undertook a 500 kilometer long walk through the desert together with the patients she treated.

The Great Book of Spells

Spells. Ripol Classic. Moscow 2013.

Overall sold copies in the double-digit million range

Not to be confused with shaman Nadezhda Anan'evna Stepanova, who performs in public but does not write books

The original Russian magic of incantation differs from Western witchcraft first and foremost in that it was and is almost exclusively handed down orally. Western magic practices usually consist of simplified excerpts from texts and rituals from medieval magic books. In Russian magic there are no general rules or canons, it exists only in the living practical experience of each individual magician family, in which from generation to generation individual „people with powers“ are found as successors. In Stepanova's family, all the knowledge, customs, sayings, incantations of hundreds of years have been passed on and preserved through the female line.

Each of Natalia Stepanova's books is a collection of practical recipes, advice, customs and spells aimed at those who want to experience and convince themselves that this kind of folk magic actually exists. Stepanova's books breathe the original spirit of ancient Russian magic - simple, village-like, with romantic symbols and rituals that take place in the wilderness, in secluded forests, moors and swamp meadows where the spirits live. A Western readership gains insight into the secret world of Siberian magic and healing art, which is closed to outsiders.

Stepanova was born in Siberia and spent much of her childhood with her grandmother Evdokia, who was a famous sorceress. During her stays in her grandmother's house, Natalia was able to observe how she received her clients. And one day Evdokia also recognized in her granddaughter those qualities that you have to bring with you to become a real village witch. And she began to teach Natalia.

Stepanova's mission is first and foremost an enlightening one. Her books are for all who are interested in the original tradition of Russian folk magic. She has never made herself known to journalists and every star cult is far from her. The life of a village sorceress is withdrawn and closed. Magic means above all - a certain rhythm of life, a certain daily routine, the observance of certain rules, pilgrimages, work in the forest and other places of power. A „show witch“ would not have such possibilities. Stepanova meets with her followers and students, answers their calls or letters personally. But in the press she does not want to distinguish herself or spread details of her biography unnecessarily. There is no public photo, she does no public performances.

The Wolf

Reflections on the essential.

Spiritual self-help. Eksmo. Moscow 2018. 222 pages

The wolf is not a random choice of the author. The wolf is his own totem animal, a figure that has accompanied him throughout his life, has shaped his character and is expressed in his personality. This is a very personal book, which tells of the encounter with oneself, of the uncompromising turning to one's own inner self, of the search for one's own deep resources, of the confrontation with the core of the being, the animal within oneself, in which is hidden innermost drive energy and at the same time power for self-healing.

The author discusses different topics always in connection with the wolf, with its characteristics and traits. He does not do this in a kind of abstract intellectual discussion, but in the form of holistic philosophical-spiritual reflections, interwoven with very personal stories. Supplemented by shorter reflections on 23 other totem animals, this book is an authentic introduction to the world of spirituality steeped in profound wisdom.

Originally trained at the Pediatrics Institute of Leningrad University, Svami Dashi spent over 20 years in Asia. For many years he accompanied Kalma Khan on his travels through Uzbekistan, Afghanistan and Pakistan. After his apprenticeship as a Sufi student he was accepted into the Naqshbandi Sufi Order. The encounter with the Sufi Master Zahira opened Neo-Sufism to him and led him to Puna to the Ashram of Osho. There he took his name Svami Bodhi Darshi. In addition, the teachings of G. Gurdzhev influenced his approaches to dance therapy. In addition, Tibetan pulsing, Ayurvedic and Thai massage techniques, Shiatsu, Tantra as well as Wilhelm Reich's methods for dissolving the muscle armour flow into his body-focused practice.

Svami Dashi combines western and eastern approaches to change of consciousness through meditation and body-centered practices. He explicitly does not describe himself as a master, mentor or enlightened person, but uses his talent and experience exclusively to „read“ the body. His diagnosis should help the person to restore his own body and its energetic system and to go on the path of self-healing. He rejects any manipulation. Dashi Svami gives meditation retreats, training courses and seminars all over Russia, partly also abroad.
